

Mesh nebulizer capabilities in aerosolizing a wide range of novel pharmaceutical formulas

Mesh devices should be considered as a first choice when looking at inhaled drug delivery. Devices with different modes of operation (active and passive vibrating mesh) are capable of delivering a variety of pharmaceutical formulations with a wide range of physicochemical characteristics.

