Teeth whitening

At-a-glance:

A gentle and effective way to a brighter smile

All about stains and how to treat them

Intrinsic stains

This type of staining affects the inner layer of the teeth and most often appear on the dentin, which is the hard layer beneath the enamel.

How to treat intrinsic stains

Use a professional-grade whitening gel from Philips Zoom that whitens the teeth gently and evenly under the enamel.

Causes

-  Medications (tetracycline)
-  Fever/illness
-  Smoking
-  Food/beverage
-  Aging

Extrinsic stains

Also known as surface stains, they affect the tooth's enamel, or outermost layer.

How to treat extrinsic stains

Use a Philips Sonicare power toothbrush designed for stain removal. Additionally, use a low-grade hydrogen peroxide whitening gel to help maintain a whiter smile.

Causes

-  Smoking
-  Food/beverage
-  Chromogenic bacteria (due to plaque buildup)

The Zoom difference

Philips Zoom professional whitening gel provides more than teeth whitening. The unique combination of ingredients delivers a brighter, healthier smile.
